TORAH PORTION Vayikra (And G-d called) PAGE: 410

The Book of Vayikra (Leviticus), (The third book of the Torah) also known as Torat Kohanim — the Laws of the Priests, deals largely with the korbanot (offerings) brought in the Mishkan (Tent of Meeting). The first group of offerings is called korban olah, a burnt offering. The animal is brought to the Mishkan's entrance. For cattle, the one bringing the offering sets his hands on the animal. Afterwards it is slaughtered and the kohen sprinkles its blood on the altar. The animal is skinned and cut into pieces. The pieces are arranged, washed and burned on the altar. A similar process is described involving burnt offerings of other animals and birds. The various meal offerings are described. Part of the meal offering is burned on the altar, and the remaining part eaten by the kohanim. Mixing leaven or honey into the offerings is prohibited. The peace offering, part of which is burnt on the altar and part is eaten, can be either from cattle, sheep or goats. The Torah prohibits eating blood or chelev (certain fats in animals). The offerings that atone for inadvertent sins committed by the Kohen Gadol, by the entire community, by the prince and by the average citizen, are detailed. Laws of the guilt-offering, which atones for certain verbal transgressions and for transgressing laws of ritual purity, are listed. The meal offering for those who cannot afford the normal guilt offering, the offering to atone for misusing sanctified property, laws of the "questionable guilt" offering, and offerings for dishonesty are detailed.

Remember...

As long as you feel pain, you're still alive.
As long as you make mistakes, you're still human.
And as long as you keep trying, there's still hope.

Joke

Are you hiring any help?

Ethel Ginsburg walked up to the manager of a department store. "Are you hiring any help?" she asked.

"No," he said curtly. "We already have all the staff we need."

"Nu? Then would you mind getting someone to wait on me?" she fired back.
