TORAH PORTION

Ekev (Obey)

PAGE: 780

If Bnei Yisrael carefully observe even those "minor" mitzvot that are usually "trampled" underfoot, Moshe promises them that they will be the most blessed of the nations on earth. Moshe tells Bnei Yisrael that they will conquer Eretz Canaan little by little, so that the land will not be overrun by wild animals in the hiatus before Bnei Yisrael are able to organize and settle the whole land. After again warning Bnei Yisrael to burn all carved idols of Canaanite gods, Moshe stresses that the Torah is indivisible and not open to partial observance. Moshe describes the Land of Israel as a land of wheat, barley, grapes, figs, and pomegranates, a land of oil-yielding olives and date-honey. Moshe cautions Bnei Yisrael not to become haughty and think that their success in Eretz Yisrael is a result of their own powers or vigor; rather, it was Hashem who gave them wealth and success. Nor did Hashem drive out the Canaanites because of Bnei Yisrael's righteousness, but rather because of the sins of the Canaanites; for the road from Sinai had been a catalogue of large and small sins and rebellions against Hashem and Moshe. Moshe details the events after Hashem spoke the ten Commandments at Sinai, culminating in his bringing down the second set of Tablets on Yom Kippur. Aharon's passing is recorded as is the elevation of the levi'im to Hashem's ministers. Moshe points out that the 70 souls who went down to Egypt have now become like the stars of the heaven in abundance. After specifying the great virtues of the Land of Israel, Moshe speaks the second paragraph of the Shema, conceptualizing the blessings that accompany keeping mitzvot and the curse that results from non-observance.

What a lovely sunny day

One morning, as soon as Isaac and Fay wake up, Isaac opens the curtains and says, "Oh my, what a lovely sunny day it is today."

The following day, as they are sitting on their terrace having tea and biscuits, Isaac looks up at the sky and says, "What a beautiful sunny day it is today, dear." The next day, as they're driving to the shopping centre, Isaac looks out the window and remarks, "Isn't it a lovely sunny day today?"

By now, Fay is getting a bit farmisht by Isaac's regular rantings about the weather. So she says to him, "What's with you? Are you going meshugga? What's with all the talk about sunny days?"

"It's because," replies Isaac, "you told me once, that one sunny day you're going to leave me and you're never coming back."

What saychel!

In the afternoon, Benny's class is taken on a school trip to visit their local police station. When they arrive, young Benjy sees a photo of a man pinned on a notice board. "Why have you put this man's photo on the board?" Benny asks one of the policemen. "Because he's a criminal and we're trying to find him," replies the policeman. "So why didn't you grab hold of him when you took his picture?" asks Benny.
