TORAH PORTION:

Shemini Atzeret is concluding Yom Tov of the Sukkot holiday. We read Deuteronomy 14:22 – 16:17, which includes the topics of: tithing crops, remission of loans during the Shemitah year and to be warm-hearted and open-handed to the destitute. Passover, Shavuot and Sukkot are the Shelosh Regalim, the three pilgrimage festivals.

Simchat Torah. We read Vezot Habracha to complete the Book of Deuteronomy and thus the whole Torah. This Torah portion begins with the blessing of Moshe, right before he dies, for the Jewish people and each tribe. He dies, is buried in the valley in an unknown spot and the Jewish people mourn for 30 days. The Torah then concludes with the words, "Never again has there arisen in Israel a prophet like Moses, whom the Almighty had known face to face..."

Joke...

A burglar breaks into the home of Morty Bineebomb on shabbos afternoon and holds him and his wife hostage. At gunpoint, he forces the two to sit on chairs facing the opposite way, backs to each other and ties them to the chairs. The burglar slowly and methodically begins stealing from the house. When the burglar has taken everything of value, he gets ready to leave, the homeowners still bound to their chairs, when suddenly, the man yells at the burglar, "Please untie her, please, let her go!" The thief responds with, "No, I'm not untying either of you so that the authorities get notified as late as possible. Don't worry, your neighbors will soon wonder why your lights are still on throughout the night and check in on you long before you succumb to dehydration." The man yet again pleads, "Please, just untie her, I'll do anything!" The burglar once again explains his reasoning, "I need to get away with this crime, I'm sorry, I can't leave anything up to chance." The man shuffles his chair towards the burglar and in a state of mania, exclaims, "I'm begging you man, just let her go, she won't call the cops, I promise!" The burglar, still unwilling to budge, did find it quite touching how much his hostage cared about his wife. "Wow," he said "You must really love your wife to beg me to untie her so desperately." "No," the man replied, in a state of frenzy, "My wife will be home in 15 minutes."

Wishing you a Chag Sameach!
