TORAH PORTION: Metzora (Leper) PAGE 470

Metzora

Last week's Parshah described the signs of the metzora (commonly mistranslated as "leper")—a person afflicted by a spiritual malady which places him or her in a state of ritual impurity. This week's Torah reading begins by detailing how the recovered metzora is purified by the kohen (priest) with a special procedure involving two birds, spring water in an earthen vessel, a piece of cedar wood, a scarlet thread and a bundle of hyssop.

A home can also be afflicted with tzaraat by the appearance of dark red or green patches on its walls. In a process lasting as long as nineteen days, a kohen determines if the house can be purified, or whether it must be demolished.

Ritual impurity is also engendered through a seminal or other discharge in a man, and menstruation or other discharge of blood in a woman, necessitating purification through immersion in a mikvah.

Shabbat Hagadol is the Shabbat prior to Passover.

Joke...

You know the story about the rabbi who in the middle of his Yizkor sermon, pounds on the table and says "Wake up to the fact that every single person in this congregation, myself included, is going to die!"

And as he expected, everyone's suddenly very alarmed, except for one man in the third row whose face breaks out into a broad smile.

And the rabbi is so shocked, he points to this man and says, "So why are you so amused? Aren't you afraid?" And the man shrugs his shoulders and answers, "Well I'm not from this congregation. I'm just visiting my sister."

Go Figure...

Why is it that people say they "slept like a baby" when babies wake up like every two hours?
