11th Day of the Omer

TORAH PORTION: Acharei Mot PAGE 480

G-d instructs the kohanim to exercise extreme care when they enter the Mishkan. On Yom Kippur, the Kohen Gadol is to approach the holiest part of the Mishkan after special preparations and wearing special clothing. He brings offerings unique to Yom Kippur, including two identical goats that are designated by lottery. One is "for G-d" and is offered in the Temple, while the other is "for Azazel" in the desert. The Torah states the individual's obligations on Yom Kippur: On the 10th day of the seventh month, one must afflict oneself. We abstain from eating and drinking, anointing, wearing leather footwear, washing, and marital relations. Consumption of blood is prohibited. The blood of slaughtered birds and undomesticated beasts must be covered. The people are warned against engaging in the wicked practices that were common in Egypt. Incest is defined and prohibited. Marital relations are forbidden during a woman's monthly cycle. Homosexuality, bestiality and child sacrifice are prohibited.

Joke...

The old rabbi was dying. His sons gathered around his bed, trying to make his last journey comfortable. They gave him some warm milk to drink but he refused.

One of his sons took the glass back to the kitchen. He had come in from Colorado, where marijuana is legal.

He opened a vial of cannabis oil, and mixed a generous amount into the warm milk. Back at the rabbi's bed, he held the glass to his father's lips.

The rabbi drank a little, then a little more and before they knew it, he had drunk the whole glass.

"Father," said the eldest son, "please share some wisdom with us before you go."

The rabbi raised himself up in bed. A distinguished look came over his face, and then he said, "Do not sell that cow."

Go Figure...

Why do you have to "put your two cents in"...but it's only a "penny for your thoughts"? Where's that extra penny going?
