(You Stand Here Today)

On the last day of his life, Moshe gathers together all the people, both young and old, lowly and exalted, men and women in a final initiation. The covenant includes not only those who are present, but even those generations yet unborn. Moshe admonishes the people again to be extremely vigilant against idol worship, because in spite of having witnessed the abominations of Egypt, there will always be the temptation to experiment with foreign philosophies as a pretext for immorality. Moshe describes the desolation of the Land of Israel which will be a result of the failure to heed G-d's mitzvos. Both their descendants and foreigners alike will remark on the singular desolation of the Land and its apparent inability to be sown or to produce crops. The conclusion will be apparent to all - the Jewish People have forsaken the One who protects them, in favour of idols which can do nothing. Moshe promises, however, that the people will eventually repent after both the blessings and the curses have been fulfilled. However assimilated they will have become among the nations, eventually G-d will bring them back to Eretz Yisrael. Moshe tells the people to remember that the Torah is not a remote impossibility; rather its fulfillment is within the grasp of every Jew. The Parsha concludes with a dramatic choice between life and death. Moshe exhorts the people to choose life.

Puns...

-Free Marriage Tip:

Don't ask your wife when dinner will be ready while she is mowing the lawn.

-Never blame others for the road you're on; It's your own asphalt.

Joke...

A married couple is fast asleep when the phone rings at 3 AM. The wife picks up, listens for a second and replies: "How am I supposed to know? We're 200 miles inland-try the coast guard." Click. Her husband rolls over and asks, "Sweetheart, who was that?" She sighs, "I don't know...some stupid woman asking if the coast is clear."
