Parshas Ha'azinu
PARSHA – Pg. 896	HAFTORAH – Pg. 904

TORAH PORTION: Ha'azinu PAGE 896
(Listen)

This week's parsha is Moshe's last poem. Just before Moshe is going to die, he is afraid that the message of G-d as he has transmitted it, has not been fully received. He is so afraid that his message will not be heard. On Yom Kippur we renew our covenant with G-d, and then on this Shabbat, we read about Moshe's fear and knowledge that we will stray again. Moshe reminds us that G-d helped us become a nation, gave us a land and a road map about how to live.

Almost all of Ha'azinu is a song, written in the Torah in two parallel columns. Moshe summons the heavens and the earth to stand as eternal witnesses to what will happen if the Jewish People sin and do not obey the Torah. He reminds the people to examine the history of the world, and note how the Jewish People are rescued from obliteration in each generation - that G-d "pulls the strings" of world events so that Bnei Yisrael can fulfill their destiny as His messengers in the world. G-d's kindness is such that Israel should be eternally grateful, not just for sustaining them in the wilderness, but for bringing them to a land of amazing abundance, and for defeating their enemies. But, this physical bounty leads the people to become self-satisfied and over-indulged. Physical pleasures corrupt the morals of the people. They worship empty idols and powerless gods, and indulge in all kinds of depravity. G-d will then let nations with no moral worth subjugate Israel and scatter them across the world. However, their only purpose is as a rod to chastise the Jewish People. When these nations think that it is through their own power that they have dominated Israel, G-d will remind them that they are no more than a tool to do His will. The purpose of the Jewish People is fundamental - that man should know his Creator. Neither exile nor suffering can sever the bond between G-d and His people, and, eventually, in the final redemption, this closeness will be restored. G-d will then turn His anger against the enemies of Israel, as though they were His enemies, showing no mercy to the tormentors of His people.

The Parshah concludes with G-d's instruction to Moses to ascend the summit of Mount Nebo, from which he will behold the Promised Land before dying on the mountain. "For you shall see the land opposite you; but you shall not go there, into the land which I give to the children of Israel."

IMMERSIVE ART EXHIBITION COMMEMORATING ANNIVERSARY OF OCTOBER 7

From Darkness to Light: An immersive art exhibition commemorating the anniversary of October 7th, 2023. Pre-Registration is required at www.jewishwindsor.org/event/darktolight/

Sukkot (begins Monday night) commemorates the years that the Jews spent in the desert on their way to the Promised Land, and celebrates the way in which G-d protected them under difficult desert conditions. Sukkot is also known as the Feast of Tabernacles, or the Feast of Booths. It is the last of the three biblically based pilgrimage holidays known as the shalosh regalim. Sukkot commemorates the forty-year period during which the children of Israel were wandering in the desert, living in temporary shelters. Agriculturally, Sukkot is a harvest festival and is sometimes referred to as Chag Ha-Asif, the Festival of Ingathering. The Etrog is the yellow lemon used by Jewish people during the week-long holiday of Sukkot, as one of the four species. Together with a lulav, hadass and aravah, the etrog is to be taken in each hand.

Joke...

Max, the union leader is addressing a union meeting at a certain unnamed Israeli government-owned company. "Comrades. We have agreed on a new deal with the management. We will no longer work five days a week." "Hooray!" Shouts the crowd. "We will finish work at 3 pm, not 4pm." "Hooray!", shouts the crowd again. "We will start work at 9 am, not 7 am" "Hooray!" "We will have a 150% pay raise." "Hooray!" "We will only work on Wednesday's". Silence—then a voice from the back asks, "Every Wednesday?"
